Earl Scott attended the dance at Elvins Friday evening.

E. Black was a Farmington visitor Sunday.

The D. C. of the Flat River high school gave a party at the Domestic Science building Friday evening. There were a few invited guests. The evening was spent in playing various games. One interesting event was the joke which the boys played on the girls. Of course, the girls were dressed up and when they arrived at the building they found the boys wearing kiki shirts and light suspenders. Dainty refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Those present were: Misses Edith and Ida Allen, Elizabeth White, Vida Tucker, Iva Haney, Nellie Williams, Ruth McClannahan, Mildred Buhmeister and Manda Jensen; Messrs. Roy Robinson, Robin Woods, Thos. Horton, Brabson Cecil, Jim and Bill Newcomb, Oran Murphy, Ralph Haney, Porel Burns, Hubert McAnally, and Wm. Moore.

Miss Vera Humphrey, who has charge of this club, chaperoned the party. The crowd departed at a late hour declaring that they had had a very enjoyable time.

HENSON

We have been having some desperate weather, such as wind, snow and rain storms. On account of this a flood has been feared, so that the crops are not advanced as they ought to be. Plowing is about the only farm work that is being done. We have potatoes and a garden planted. The rains in the Upper Mississippi has made the water high on the levee and the winds blowing against it has made it dangerous, but the danger of a break is probably past for the present. In the lower country back water has driven many families from their homes. We have seen as many as thirteen wagons in a day, families moving to the sandy country, some to the hills.

The water doesn't keep chicks from hatching and growing, especially incubator ones. We have ninety doing nicely.

My granddaughter, Miss Beulah Counts, gave an Easter hunt here April 4th. The girls present were: Mary Shounaker, Reba Gum, Thelma Johnson, Gladys, Irene, Evelyn and Aleen Hockersmith, Dora and Cletis Henderson and Edna Counts. The boys were: Alphas Burton, Harold and Sidney Counts, Robt. Bullard, John Scott, Willard, John and Roy Hockersmith. It was a large crowd, considering the bad weather, and a good time was had by all.

The eggs were hidden in the alfalfa field. To see them all going to the field all so eager they could hardly wait, made a pretty sight. Some did not find any eggs while others found as many as thirteen. All the eggs were found except four, which were found later. After the hunt was over and the crowd had returned to the house, I asked the crowd where Easter was originated. But no one could tell me.

It was also my seventy-ninth birthday and a dinner was given. I don't know if all remembered me, but two did. I thought of all my friends on that day. The two were Mrs. Raymond Marks, of Esther, Mo., and my daughter, Hazel Ruth Counts, of Farmington, Mo., who also sent me a present. It was what all the world is going mad over—the all-powerful dollar.
